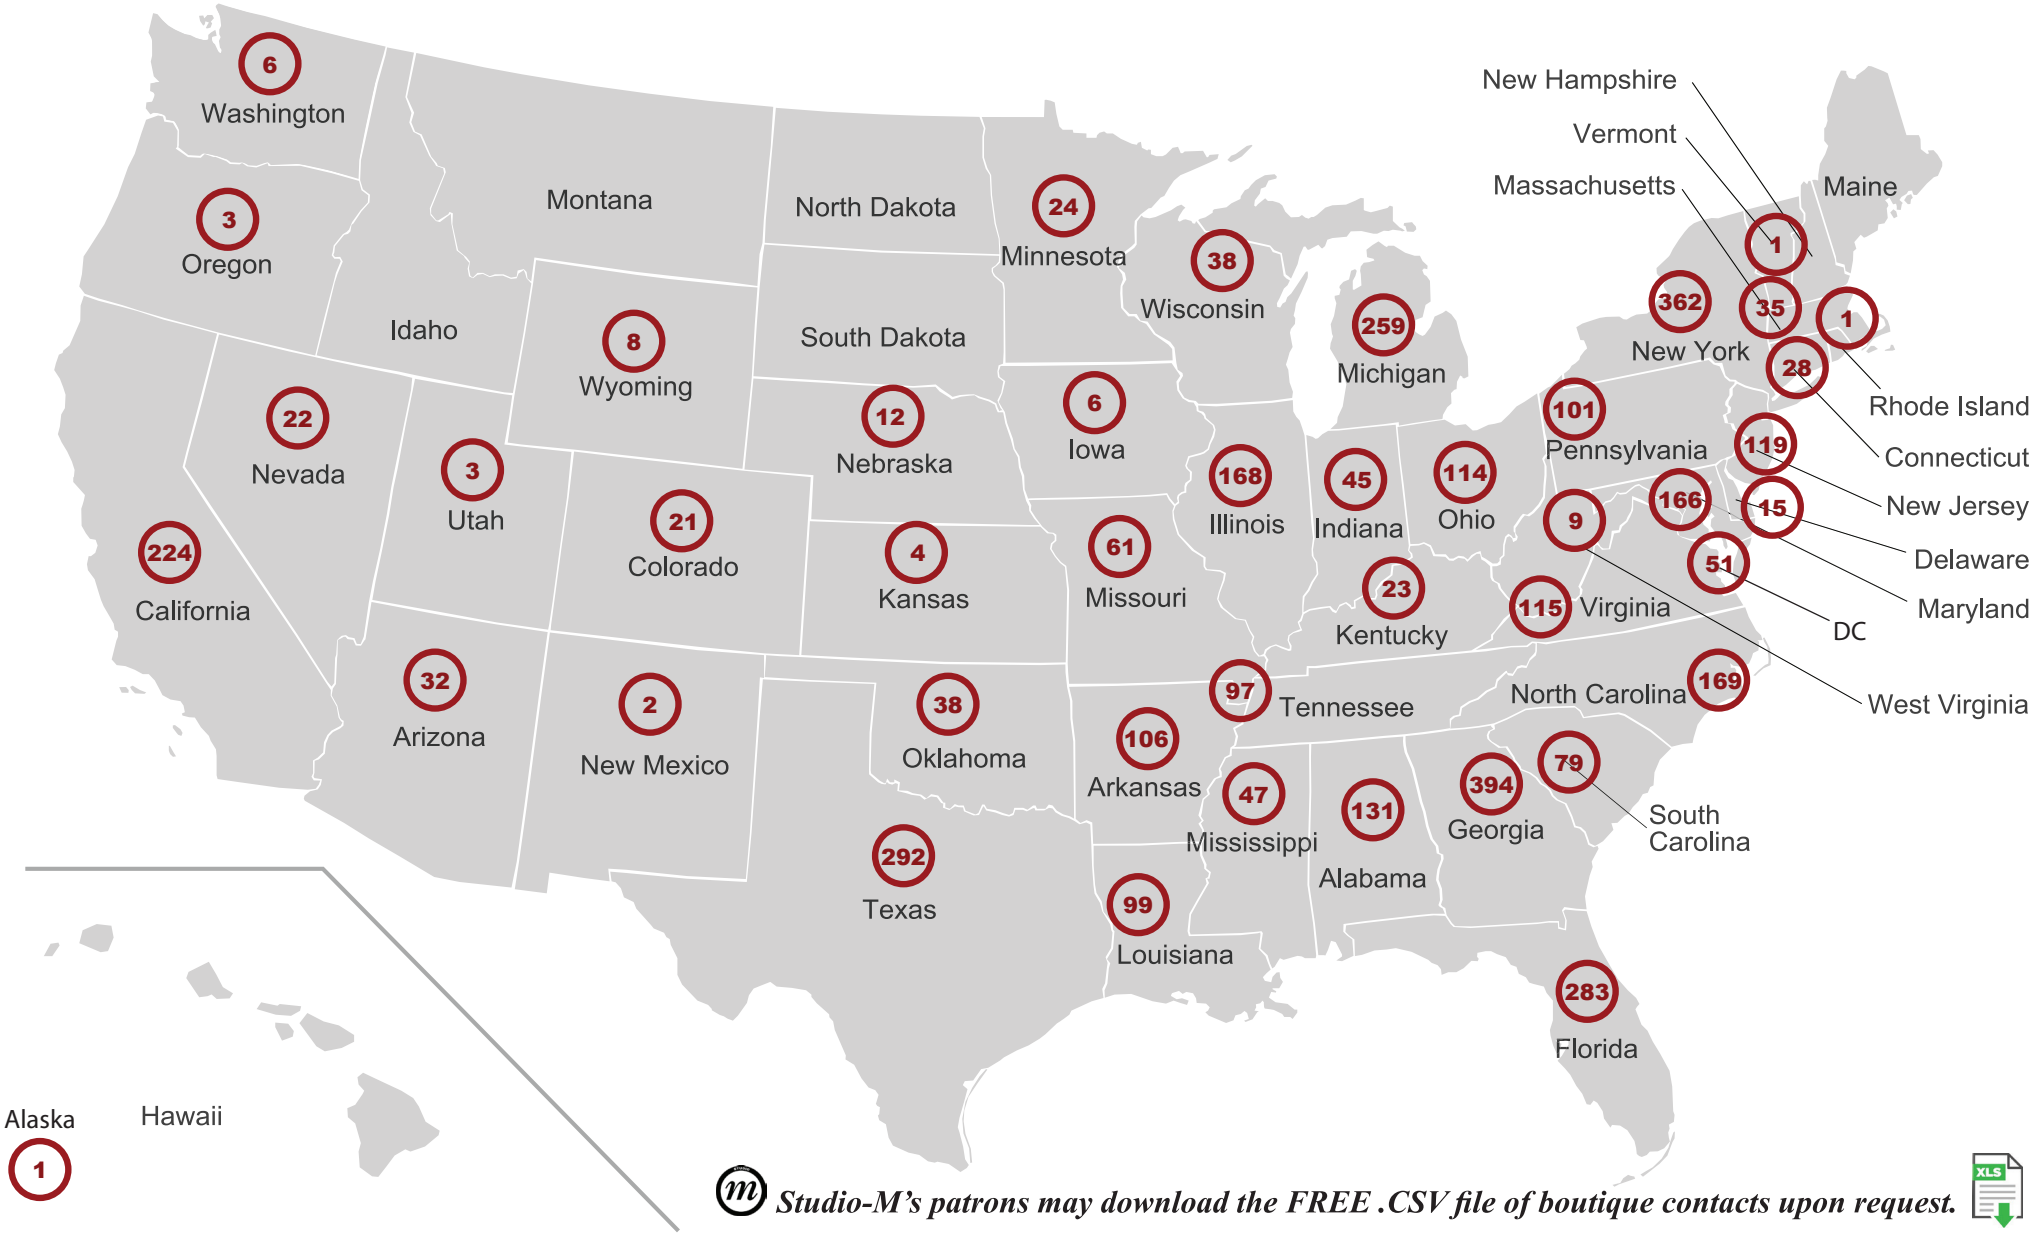
AFRICAN-AMERICAN OWNED, INDEPENDENT APPAREL BOUTIQUES LOCATED THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES. (2022 LISTING)

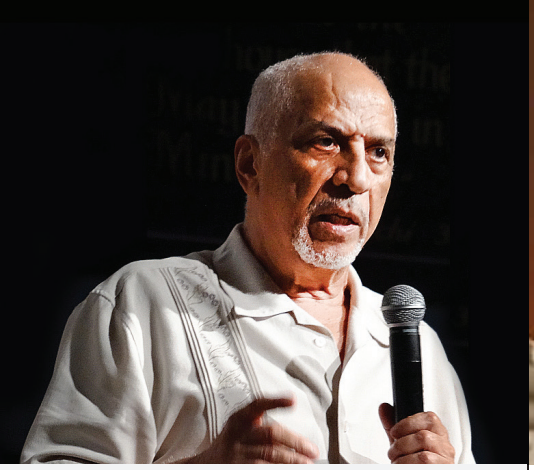
Urban Fashion Network

www.UrbanFashion.net

◯ Indicates quantity within a State



Studio-M's patrons may download the FREE .CSV file of boutique contacts upon request.



“As other ethnic groups have arrived in the United States they instinctively seek to do business with like minded people who share their values, speak their language and enjoy their culture. Each of these immigrants instinctively engage in business amongst their own ethnic group.

Black-Americans are the only ethnic group in the United States that has to be told to do business amongst your own people. Blacks financially support every other ethnic group’s business except their own. Go engage with Black businesses! The dollar doesn’t bounce in the Black community one time before it’s spent.”

—Dr. Claud Anderson

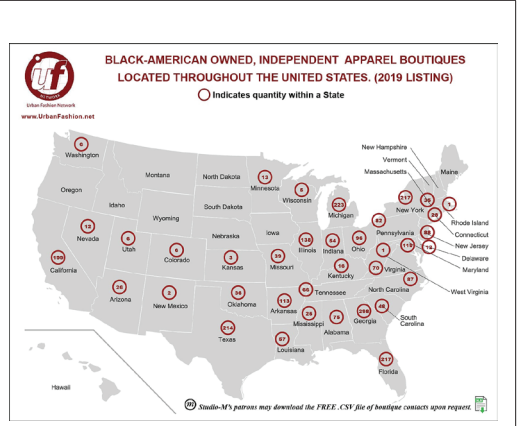
“Black people on planet earth are seen as the poorest people on earth. Yet they come from a continent with the most abundant amount of minerals and natural resources. A wealth of materials and human resources exist within their reach, beneath their feet. Japan is a nation with little to no natural resources that exist on what is almost barren, volcanic rock in the midst of the Pacific ocean. Yet the Japanese are seen as a global, economic, super-power on the world stage. Black-Americans are seen as the poorest ethnic group in the United States. However, if viewed as a nation, Black-Americans engage in more trade with the United States than the nation of Canada. If Black-Americans only knew how to capture the wealth of spending by Black-American consumers.”

—The late Dr. Amos Wilson

“Black people have always been the worlds richest people. Rich in culture, rich in materialism and rich in spirit. This is why we didn’t build elaborate churches and cathedrals. All of life was our cathedral. Spiritually, we celebrated everything because all living things was apart of the celebration of life.”

“It’s a pity that our Black children don’t know about the ancient African empires. We have to go back into our history to learn this. And the main thing that has been directed against Black people, that makes us feel so depressed; is that we have been robbed of the concept of self confidence and historical memory. Self confidence and historical memory is what we need to reclaim again. So we understand what we still must be, and were we still must go.”

—The late Dr. John Henrick Clarke



“If every Black-American Fashion Designer today chose to do business exclusively with Black owned apparel retailers here in the United States... There exist no shortage of Black retailers for starting a strategic partnership with. In-fact, there exist an ever expanding number of Black-American startup apparel retailers. Both brick and mortar, and online.

We know from our elders what we must do. The challenge is, perhaps we don’t know how we are to formulate this relationship for doing business? It’s the “how” that has Blacks paused.”

—Urban Fashion Network

www.urbanfashion.net